

Live Webinar: The NJ Medical Aid in Dying for the Terminally Ill Act & What Providers Need to Know

The NJ Medical Aid in Dying for the Terminally Ill Act, signed into law by Governor Murphy on April 12, 2019, will become effective on August 1, 2019.

The law permits a qualified terminally ill person, who is an adult resident of New Jersey, to obtain life-terminating medication from the person's physician for self-administration.

Join us as Brach Eichler Member Lani M. Dornfeld discusses the process that providers must follow before, during, and after providing life-terminating medications to terminally ill patients, in order to benefit from the protections of the law and avoid legal penalties.

The webinar will cover:

- Overview of the NJ Medical Aid in Dying for the Terminally Ill Act
- Key definitions
- Informed consent requirements
- Documentation requirements
- Required safeguards
- Considerations for developing policies and procedures
- Protections and penalties under the law
